

NAIOP Chicago
35th Annual Awards for Excellence Winner
Architecture Firm of the Year
Goettsch Partners

Goettsch Partners (GP) is an architecture firm with a global perspective based in Chicago, with additional offices in Denver and Shanghai. In 2021, GP had a significant impact on Chicago's real estate market across several building types: Office, Multifamily/Mixed-Use and Institutional/Historic Redevelopment. Within a larger context, GP expanded its work domestically to three major markets, including landing the tallest tower in Nashville, along with office, residential and mixed-use projects in Charlotte and Denver. The firm and its work also received more than 30 awards and notable Chicago project Bank of America Tower receiving 13 honors alone.
