ESG Architecture & Design

ESG is a national leader in the creation of design-driven, developer-focused environments that build, renew and sustain the public realm. ESG has recently developed several projects within the Fulton Market District that have helped shape the area as a hub for science & technology including Fulton Labs at 400 North Aberdeen and 1375 W Fulton along with many lab and office tenant buildouts. Currently in construction within the Chicago area are a residential tower at 1114 West Carroll and the Evanston Labs project in Chicago's North Shore. Additionally, ESG's work in multi-residential buildings and hospitality can be seen throughout greater Chicago.
